

DIRECT FLIGHT DURATION TIMES from the U.S. and Canada to Europe

The following are travel times for Non-Stop or Direct flights. In most cases a Direct flight is a Non-Stop flight however airlines also call flights that make an intermediate stop, 'Direct'. In these cases a Direct flight will have the same flight number from your Departure point to your final destination. 'Direct' flights will occasionally require you to change aircraft at an intermediate point however airlines will disclose this information when booking.

The routes and times shown will vary depending on the airline, aircraft type and the season. Please note that return flights from Europe to North America are approximately 1 to 1 ½ hours longer in duration than outbound flights.
